PUBLICATION LISTING GUIDELINES & SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

The Street Nursing Institute (SNI) welcomes evidence-based publications that advance knowledge and practice in street nursing, street medicine, and healthcare for individuals experiencing homelessness. Approved publications may be featured as external links on the SNI Publications webpage.

1. ELIGIBLE TOPICS

Publications must relate directly to street nursing or street medicine practice, including outreach care, wound care, chronic disease management, harm reduction, trauma-informed care, healthcare access, interprofessional collaboration, education, ethics, or research involving people experiencing homelessness.

Priority is given to work with clear implications for clinical practice, education, community engagement, or health equity.

2. EVIDENCE AND PUBLICATION STANDARDS

Submissions must be evidence-based and supported by appropriate research, clinical guidelines, quality-improvement findings, or systematically documented practice evidence.

Accepted formats may include peer-reviewed research articles, systematic or scoping reviews, evidence-based practice reports, and scholarly practice or educational articles. Non-peer-reviewed materials may be considered only if clearly identified and supported by verifiable evidence.

Claims must be appropriately referenced. Submissions promoting misinformation, discriminatory practices, or unsubstantiated treatments will not be accepted.

3. INFORMATION REQUIRED FOR REVIEW

Article title; full author list; publication year; journal or publisher; DOI or stable URL; abstract or 150–250-word summary; publication type; a brief statement (2–3 sentences) explaining relevance to street nursing or street medicine and a brief statement (2-3 sentences) explaining why you are interested in displaying your work in the Street Nursing Institute web site.

Name, affiliation (optional), and contact email of the submitting author or representative; confirmation that the link is authorized for public sharing; and disclosure of relevant funding or conflicts of interest.

4. LISTING CONTRIBUTION AND DURATION

A $50.00 publication listing fee is required for each accepted article. The fee covers a one-year (12-month) listing on the SNI Publications webpage, beginning on the date the link is posted.

Payment is requested only after SNI approves the submission. Submission or payment does not guarantee acceptance, a particular placement, readership, or endorsement.

Listings expire after 12 months unless renewed. Renewal, if offered, requires a new review and $50.00 fee. SNI will provide payment instructions after acceptance.

5. LINKING, PERMISSIONS, AND ACCESSIBILITY

SNI will display the article citation and a link to the publisher's page, DOI, or other legally authorized full-text location. SNI will not upload or reproduce copyrighted article PDFs without documented permission.
The submitter is responsible for ensuring the link is accurate and accessible. Open-access links are encouraged; any paywall or access limitation should be disclosed.

6. REVIEW AND EDITORIAL DISCRETION

SNI may verify citations, evidence quality, relevance, and link functionality before approval. SNI reserves the right to decline, correct, suspend, or remove listings that do not meet these guidelines or that later become inaccurate, retracted, inaccessible, or inconsistent with SNI's mission.
SNI may identify retractions or expressions of concern and remove the listing. The Institute does not provide formal peer review of the underlying manuscript.

7. TRANSPARENCY AND RESPONSIBILITY

Listing an article does not imply that SNI endorses its findings, authors, institutions, products, or recommendations. Views expressed in linked publications are those of their respective authors.
Authors remain responsible for research ethics, participant confidentiality, informed consent, conflicts of interest, and compliance with applicable publication standards.
The listing fee supports the Institute's mission; it is a payment in exchange for a defined listing service and should not automatically be represented as a tax-deductible charitable donation.

8. SUBMISSION AND INQUIRIES

Email publication details and the proposed link to diana@streetnursinginstitute.com with the subject line "Publication Listing Submission." SNI will review the submission and, if approved, provide payment instructions and the expected posting date.
